Dear Moira and Cammy

RAISED BED SUCCESS WITH ROCKDUST, MANURE and TOPSOIL

As you know Lizee and I have been using SEER ROCKDUST for the past 5 years or so and we have been astounded and delighted at the size and taste of the vegetables that we are producing. As you know Lizee is a Nutritional Therapist, helping people with weight problems, digestive disorders, hormonal imbalances etc and obviously part of her therapy is encouraging clients to eat lots of fresh organic vegetables and when they view our vegetable patch they are amazed. We have a fairly small patch but everyone who visits asks for the secret which of course is your ROCKDUST.

We put in 2 raised beds 3 years ago using topsoil, farmyard manure and ROCK DUST and the produce has been prolific this year. We grow tomatoes in the greenhouse also using ROCK DUST and we have had and are still now harvesting lots every day. Before learning about ROCK DUST we had average crops so therefore the change in quality quantity and taste can only be put down to this fantastic product.

Best regards
A & L McG
