WORMS GALORE WITH SEER ROCKDUST

Cheryl's first priority when they moved into their new house near Inverness was to get the vegetable garden going.

Close investigation soon showed there was a problem as the soil seemed to be devoid of worms for the whole of their first year.

Cheryl decided to try SEER Rockdust and Green Goodness compost.

"This year it has been a whole different story." says Cheryl.

*"We added the SEER Rockdust and Compost to the soil in the Autumn. By the middle of this year WE CANNOT DIG UP ONE SPADE FULL BUT THERE IS AT LEAST ONE BIG HEALTHY WORM IN IT.

*In the summer we had a crop of the BIGGEST and TASTIEST STRAWBERRIES you could imagine. Right now we are digging up our FABULOUS PARSNIPS AND CABBAGES.

Yes, we are well pleased with the SEER Rockdust."
